SUFFRAGISTS TALKED MUCH.

Heated Debate on a Proposition Enlarge the Business Committee.

DES MOINES, Ia., Jan. 28.-The National Woman Suffrage Association indulged in a heated debate to-day on the proposition for a plan of work, led by Clara B. Colby, of Nebraska, to add the chairmen of standing committees to the business committee of the association, thereby enlarging it to fourteen members. It developed into a contest between the East and West. Mesdames McCulloch of Illinois, Addison of Kansas, Atwater of Montana, Nelson of Minnesota and Devoe of Indiana favored enlargement to give all the branches of suffrage work better representation on the managing committee. It was opposed by Susan B Anthony, Rachel Foster Avery of Pennsylvania, Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, Anna Howard Shaw of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Bradford of Colorado, Henry B. Blackwell of Massachusetts and others on the ground that enlargement would make a cumbersome committee and impossible to get together, and would interfere with the efficiency of the work. The proposition was defeated, 35 to 19. It was decided to insist that the national association should control state campaigns where the national association gives aid. National workers say that state workers in the new States who have not had experience do not know how to run a campaign as well as the national workers who have been through it in other States. Miss Anthony declared she would never take hard-earned money contributed for this purpose into state campaigns unless she could control the campaign. The person who contributes money controls the campaign nowadays, she said. At the afternoon session the following officers were elected: President, Susan B. Anthony; vice president at large, Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, Philadelphia; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, Philadelphia. All these were reelections. The rest of the time was devoted

WELL-KNOWN BANKER TO BE SEC-RETARY OF THE TREASURY.

Definite Announcement Made by the Chicagoan Last Night Before His Departure from Canton.

CONFERENCE WITH M'KINLEY

AT WHICH THE PORTFOLIO WAS TENDERED AND ACCEPTED.

His Appointment Regarded as an Experiment by Politicians at Washington-Mr. Gage's Career.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CANTON, O., Jan. 28.-Lyman J. Gage, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, will become a member of President-elect McKinley's official family on March 4. This makes two members of the next Cabinet who have been definitely decided on. They are:

Secretary of State-JOHN SHERMAN. Secretary of the Treasury-LYMAN J.

Mr. Gage arrived in Canton this afternoon at 2:40 o'clock, having been called here by Major McKinley. The Presidentelect and his prospective secretary of the treasury were together until 7:30 this evening, and it is presumed that during the long conference the Chicagoan's position | bors it is imposing. Doric pillars supon certain public questions and Republican policies were thoroughly discussed and explained satisfactorily to Major Mckinley, for soon after the conference Mr. Gage said to your correspondent:

"Mr. McKinley offered me the treasury portfolio. I told him I would accept the high honor and fill the position to the best of my ability.

This announcement was made in the office library at the McKinley residence. Beyond the mere statement given above Mr. Gage had little to say. He declined to discuss any feature of the policy of the incoming administration or to discuss any matter other than that relating to himself. He said there was no ground for the publication that he was a gold Democrat during the campaign, and he asserted that his only affiliation with the Deomarctic party was in 1884, when he voted for Cleveland, He also said that he and Major McKinley substantially agreed on the tariff question. After the conference this afternoon dinner was served. Besides Mr. Gage there were present National Committeeman Leland, of Kansas; ex-Governor Corneil and Col. J. J. McCook, of New York, the latter a leading attorney; W. C. Beer, of the National Security Company of New York, and General Osborne, the secretary of the national committee. After dining the party chatted for a time. It was evident that the public announcement of the settlement of the treasury portfolio was regarded as the conclusion of a good day's work. Col McCook spoke to-night most highly of the estimate of Mr. Gage in the East and of his recognized ability in business and commercial circles all over the country. One of the considerations for congratulation here is Mr. Gage's genial nature and frankness of speech. It was expected this morning that the announcement of the tendering and acceptance of the treasury portfolio would be made to-night, and Mr. Gage was met at the depot by the reporters, to whom he politely declined to talk. Afterwards at the McKinley home he said at dusk there was nothing to an the first announcement in the few words given above in the presence of Mr. Mc-Kinley in the sitting room. He then stepped across the hall, where a score of special correspondents awaited him, and repeated his terse statement and was a second time warmly congratulated on the announcement. Mr. Gage left for Chicago at 9:27

Governor Cornell said to-night that he retary of the treasury who will have learned his trade before he enters upon the duties of his office.

Especial congratulation is believed here to be due to the fact of Mr. Gage's popularity with the people, who respect him much, though they have differed with him politically. The expressions of regard for him by workingmen in Chicago interviews are believed to be largely due to the fact that he has often met with them and joined in discussion of public questions and political matters, having entered in club discussion with persons noted in the troubles of the Chicago Anarchists.

Views of Politicians. Consolidation of Associations of Re-

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.-Republican and Democratic politicians look on the appointment of Lyman J. Gage as secretary of the treasury in McKinley's Cabinet as an experiment. Partisan Republicans seem to think it is of doubtful wisdom, but those who are closest in the confidence of the National Board of Trade of Retail Cycle President-elect say the selection is the very Dealers. The idea was proposed by the essence of political wisdom and the keenest recognition of the fact that the last cammembers of the St. Louis Cycle Board of paign was won more in behalf of the substantial interests than of political issues, as the phrase is commonly understood. They say that the selection of Gage to carry on the great business department of the government is a pledge that Major stores with wheels that can be sold for a McKinley will endeavor to give the country song and to make an emphatic protest a clear, business-like administration, a against the manufacture of bicycles by move that will go a long way to inspire convict labor. It is the intention of the organization to work in harmony with the Brief Sketches of the Coming Secretary and His Wife.

Lyman J. Gage was born at Deruyter, Madison councy, New York, June 28, 1836. His parents were both born in the State of New York, and were of English stock. When Lyman J. He went to Chicago in the fall of 1855 and was engaged as bookkeeper by a lumber firm. His duties as bookkeeper, however, comprised the driving of one of the teams belonging to the firm and loading and un-loading lumber. He also acted for a time as night watchman. While he was thus engaged he was offered the position of bookkeeper of the Merchants' Saving. Loan and Trust Company, and this was the actual beginning of his career as a banker. In the spring of 1860 he had worked his way up to the position of assistant cashier, and later to that of cashier, which he held until 1868, when he left the Merchants' Saving, Loan and Trust Company to accept a similar position with the First National Bank, with which institution he has been identified until the pres- | GEO. F. She and her husbane are members and regular attendants at the Central Church, with which they became associated under the pastorate of Professor Swing. Both are lovers of good music, but neither has ever learned to play. When the next secretary of the treasary caught the bicycle fever last summer he carried his new machine along with him to Saratoga, where he learned to ride without fear of having his falls illustrated by newspaper artists. Previously he had driven a great deal with Mrs. Gage after banking hours and them, on their return Mrs. Gage was compelled to follow her husband's wheel in a brougham, she decided that she had contracted the bicycle fever also. He said that sentiment all over the State was for Mr. Hanna for senator. gentlemen said they were not here on any political business, neither for themselves nor anyone else. Ex-Governor Cornell and Colonel McCook arrived this afternoon for a conference with Major McKinley. Exactly what they are here for has not developed, but there is some gossip to the effect that Col. McCook is eligible to the attorney generalship. Mr. Beers's visit is understood to be purely of a social nature. Major McKinley left Mr. Gage long enough in the early evening to give a short audience to a delegation of colored men. They were Revs. W. B. Derrick, of New York, James A. Handy of Baltimore, W. J. Gaines of Atlanta, B. W. Arnett of Wilberforce (Ohio) University, Bishops J. L. Bradford of Baltimore, a prominent lay member of the African M. E. Church. There was a bishops' conference in New Orleans this week, and the four bishops here to-day were present, coming directly here from the sessions. They had no statement to make as to the specific object of their visit, but in response to a question said it was a fond hope of the colored race that in the allottment of patronage outside of the civil-service code, colored people should be given an equitable representation. They also expressed the belief that Major McKinley would give the race proper rec-

Louisville Solons Charged with Bribery and Extorting Money.

ALDERMEN INDICTED.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 28.-Indictments have been drawn against three members of the Board of Aldermen for alleged violations of the law in connection with their official duties. The aldermen who are indicted are: R. E. King, president of the board; R. O. Brewer, J. E. Leatherman. All of these are anti-Todd men and have actively opposed the mayor in all of his movements since he took the office. The charge on which President King is indicted is bribery in connection with his official position. Leatherman and Brewer are indicted on the charge of trying to extort money from various persons for their influence in the Board of Aldermen. The facthat the indictments are not yet returned to the court makes it difficult to learn any thing about the details. To-morrow at noon is given as the hour when the indictments will be reported. President King is a member of the sinking fund by virtue of being president of the Board of Aldermen. His friends say he will easily disprove any and entered on the consideration of the agcharge brought against him.

When seen to-night Messrs, King, Brewer and Leatherman said they had expected the indictments, and expressed confidence in their ability to prove their innocence of the charges, and that the whole thing is a political game inspired by Mayor Todd and growing out of the friction be-tween the executive and the council.

TWO SENSATIONAL SPEECHES

THAT ATTRACTED GREAT INTEREST IN THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

An Obioan's Reply to the Charges of Election Fraud Made by the Ex-

Governor of Illinois.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 .- The House passed the Indian appropriation bill to-day ricultural appropriation bill, but all interest in these two measures were overshadowed by two very remarkable speeches, one by Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, attacking ex-Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, and the other by Mr. Dearmond, of Missouri, heaping ridicule on Secretary Morton for the recent issue of a pamphlet entitled "The Farmer's Interest in Finance." Mr. Grosvenor's observations on the Governor of Illinois were called forth by the latter's speech last week, in which he charged that Mr. Bryan had been defeated by fraud, and based his charge particularly Ohio, where, he alleged, 90,000 votes were illegally cast. Mr. Grosvenor was very perfor the result of the election. He declared that an appeal on the stump against Altgeldism never failed to arouse the populace where all else failed. He then analyzed the Ohio vote, and the fact that the Democratic vote in the State had increased proportionately much more than the Republican. Mr. Dearmond replied very briefly to Mr. Grosvenor, but it was his subsequent atcrat, an ardent advocate of silver, and biting sarcasm and rasping frony he scored retary and sent out over the country under frank, entitled "The Farmer's Interest in The pamphlet reviewed the silver agitation to show that "poverty and illiteracy" characterized the States which serted that the demand for silver came chiefly from the farmers, whose interests to look after, and asked, contemptuously, what excuse there was for issuing to them this slander, this travesty of facts." "The Republican party is not responsible for him," interposed Mr. W. A. Stone, of

"You intimated that I took an unfair advantage of Governor Altgeld." put in Mr. Grosvenor, "why do you attack Secperienced violent gales during the passage, retary Morton here, where he has no opportunity to reply? "Because," retorted Mr. Dearmond, after a pause, "I knew the gentleman from Ohlo had contracted a habit of speaking here QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 28 .- Arrived: Ger- at least once a day and I felt that he could speak for him, if necessary." (Renewed laughter.) In conclusion Mr. Dearmond again commended to the prayerful consideration of the Republicans "this curiosity of modern political life," whose peculiarity was that he talked when he was not writing, and wrote when he was not talking, and did loth when he was not thinking. GROSVENOR'S SPEECH. Mr. Grosvenor got the floor during the debate on the agricultural appropriation bill and, under the latitude allowed, proceeded to interest the members with a reply to some remarks made by ex-Governor Altgeld at a dinner given in the latter's honor last week. The loyalty, honor and integrity of the State of Ohio, he said, LANSING, Mich., Jan. 28 .- Governor Pin- | demanded a reply. As to much of what Altgeld had said on that occasion, Mr. matic career to-day by going to the Jack- Grosvenor remarked, his answer would be silence, but he could not pass over a single paragraph. That paragraph Mr. Grosvenor had read at the cierk's desk. It the sweeping assertion that Bryan had been defrauded of his election, to the fact that in Ohio last fall there were cast 200,000 more votes than in 1832. This, Altgeld said, indicated an increase of population of 1.-000,000, whereas he charged the increase had not been more than two-thirds of that, From this he concluded that 90,000 votes were fraudulent

"I do not wonder," said Mr. Grosvenor, "that a gentleman who led a victorious majority in the city of Chicago very recently and then was absolutely overown State as an illustration of the quality Altgeld is the last person, in my judgment, who ought to drag from the rapidly clospened in Ohio was due to a large number erful and potential in the victory of the Republican party in that State than was party of Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, There is no place in all the broad domain were made to the conscience and judgment, decency and patriotism and law-abiding sentiment in Ohio where the least difficulty as to that which was possible we might be GRAFTON, W.
